

Our Vision: The CCRC will be a world leading research centre in climate science, educating and enabling the Australian and global communities to understand and manage the risks associated with climate variability and climate change

Our Influence and Outreach

Have influence and impact beyond academia

Our People

Demonstrate a commitment to diversity, excellence and community

